Our voyages take place in the stunning region where the Mediterranean and Aegean seas converge, and the Turkish Riviera and Greek Islands meet. The sailing conditions are generally calm, and the weather is perfect for most of the year. The seawater temperature begins to warm up in April and remains comfortable until November.

The smooth sailing conditions make for an excellent blue cruise experience. Our home base, Datça Liman, is located on the Datça Peninsula, which is ideally situated for sailing both the north and south sides of the region, providing favorable winds, breathtaking scenery, and a tranquil sea.

Your departure harbour is always easy to reach with four major airports are in the vicinity.
